Club Marconi, Bossley Park NSW

Club Marconi was established in 1956 as a meeting place for Italians of the district of Bossley Park. Guglielmo Marconi, the inventor of the wireless, was chosen as the namesake because of his scientific genius, which provided a connection in the form of communication between different cultures. Located on 31 acres of parkland and playing fields at Bossley Park, Club Marconi is the most cosmopolitan club in Australia. It has over 25,000 members representing 18 nationalities and over 24 different languages, and a team of over 200 staff.

Business Objective:

As one of the largest clubs in NSW, Club Marconi required a CCTV Security Solution that was going to meet and satisfy the needs of the present, and looked into the future. The Club already had an analogue CCTV system in place, and needed to be convinced that IP was the next generation. After close liaison with the management and IT Manager regarding all aspects of the installation and in-house requirements, the decision was made to proceed with a Bosch CCTV IP Solution.

Solution:

Through the integrator, CAV Security, Bosch was chosen as the preferred technology partner because of the strength of its security product range, and the advanced knowledge of IP solutions. Eight new Bosch 18 Channel DiBos DVR's were installed, with remote software set up to enable complete control from the remote PC's on the Club's internal network. The installation also included 128 Bosch IP Dome Cameras placed in key positions around the Club. Configuration features included DVR's to be set up with a guaranteed 21 day history, and automatic time synchronisation.

From the initial design process through to installation, Bosch, CAV Security and the Club were all actively involved in the decision-making process, ensuring that each party's concerns and requirements were dealt with.

To date, Club Marconi remains the only club in Australia with a CCTV IP Security System of this size.

Result:

Bosch CCTV IP System has proven to be a reliable and user-friendly application that is easy to maintain, as well as being simple to expand as required. The club management is still singing the praises of their Bosch CCTV IP System, and does not hesitate to pass on their gratitude to both Bosch and CAV Security.
